Mauna Loa with Live Stock.

The Mauna Loa returned this morning from Kona and Kau with 7,298 bags of sugar, 960 bags of coffee, forty-three bales of sisal, thirty head of cattle, four cows, one calf, one horse, one mule, one automobile, two pigs, six boxes of pigs, nineteen boxes of chickens, one box of ducks, two cats, thirty-eight bundles of hides, 216 goat skins, eighty-eight bunches of bananas, sixty boxes of fruit, thirty-four bags of taro, twelve bags of beans and 175 pieces of lumber.

Sugar on Hawaii.

Purser Sheldon of the Mauna Loa reports that the following sugar was awaiting shipment: At Punaluu, 2,965 bags, and Honouliuli, 1,660.

Hyades Due Sunday Afternoon.

The Hyades is due here on Sunday afternoon from Seattle. She has the mail from that direction. She will leave Honolulu on September 20 for Seattle via island ports and San Francisco.

Alaskan Has a Spud.

The Alaskan arrived off port at two o'clock this morning from Seattle. The popular captain, Patterson, who has just become a benedick, reports that the trip down was a smooth one all the way, thus accounting for the quick passage of eight days twenty-one hours.

It was thought here that the Alaskan would have been entrusted with the Northwest mail, but, strange to say, the Hyades, which has never yet shown a rare turn of speed, was made the mail carrier. This will no doubt cause some astonishment in the local postoffice. The Alaskan has a bigger speed, something over a knot an hour, than the Hyades.

The Alaskan has a big cargo for here, something like 3,000 tons, all of which is of a thoroughly general character. There is a gigantic log resting on the deck. This weighs about eight tons and is to be used as a spud on a dredger by one of the dredging companies.

There is also a small cargo for Hilo and some freight for Kahului. As far as was known on board this morning the Alaskan will not go to Kanaia on this trip. Her date of departure from here has not yet been fixed.

vation of the previous day for Saint Pierre-Miquelon Islands, America, will be sent broadcast from the Eiffel Tower daily, immediately after the 11 a. m. time signal (Greenwich mean time), for the benefit of vessels in the Atlantic. The messages will give the atmospheric pressure, the direction and force of the wind, and the state of the ocean.—U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Ships That Pass in the Night.

The Alaskan reports having passed on Wednesday night the Makura bound out of here. This would seem to indicate that the Makura was going pretty fast, considering that the Alaskan was making about eleven knots and the Makura had only left here the day before.

Abreast of each other several days ago, the Alaskan passed a four-masted schooner and a big steel bark, both of them bound for northern ports. The bark was evidently the French vessel Bonchamps that arrived at Portland on September 13.

Kukui In From Cruise.

The lighthouse tender Kukui returned yesterday afternoon from a cruise to the other islands. She visited Hawaii, Maui and Molokai, and did all the necessary repair work, etc., along those coasts.

Crap Shooters on Wharves.

Harbor Officer J. Weday says it is no use trying to catch crap shooters on the wharves. They have their scouts, who send wireless messages in to the principals, so that they are ready for him when he arrives on the scene, and thus he finds only enthusiastic readers, perhaps the papers or the books are upside down, but still they are not playing craps.

"What chance have I got, when they train a dog to watch for them?" asked Jack this morning. "None at all," he replied (on his own behalf). "They see me coming, or their scouts do, so I can't hope to get them."

PASSENGERS ARRIVED.
